Plane crash tragedy

Tributes paid to young dad killed when aircraft plummets into field

A FLYING enthusiast from Harlow was one of two people killed when a light aircraft crashed into a field off the A14 and burst into flames.

Passenger Simon Chamberlain, 29, died in Saturday afternoon's crash near Chelmsford. The plane was being flown by experienced British Airways pilot Andrew Sully, who came from Writtle. He also lost his life.

The wreckage of the Yak-52 training plane has been taken away for investigation.

Mr Chamberlain, pictured right, lived off Cambridge Road and would have been 30 next month. He leaves a wife, Lizzie, and 19-month-old son.

His family said in a statement: "Lizzie has lost her best friend and soulmate. His son, Charlie, who will be two years old in August, has lost his father and his parents, Paul and Steph, have lost a loving son.

"We love him more than anything – the world. Our hearts also go out to the other person involved in this tragedy.

"We know that you will respect the fact that we now need time to grieve and give us the space to heal."

The plane, a Yak-52 training aircraft, had taken off from North Weald Airfield where Mr Chamberlain was volunteer secretary and trustee of the airfield museum.

Onlookers said it appeared to be attempting a mid-air somersault shortly before it 'nose-dived' straight into the ground near Cooksmill Green and burst into flames.

Firefighters reported that when they arrived at the crash scene the plane was "completely alight". Five fire and rescue service units – including two from Chelmsford and one from Colchester – attended the scene.

Investigators from the Air Accident Investigation Branch are looking into the cause of the crash.

The Yak-52 is a Soviet trainer aircraft which first flew in 1976. It was originally designed as an aerobatic trainer for civilian aerobatic pilots and military pilots.

Since the early 1990s and the fall of the Soviet Union, many Yak-52s have been exported to the West. Of around 1,800 produced to date, most now fly in the UK, USA, Australia and New Zealand.

Second fire hero describes mum's dramatic escape from house blaze

AN aerial contractor who helped a young mother escape from her burning home has spoken of his part in the rescue.

Norman Mitchell, 60, of Churchfield, Harlow, had just finished work at a house nearby and was passing the building where Robyn Jeffery and her baby son Harley were trapped on the first floor.

As reported in last week's Star, 17-year-old Robyn threw her baby into the arms of Bethan Woolford, who was standing beneath the window. But as Robyn was preparing to jump herself, Mr Mitchell arrived with a set of ladders which she was able to climb down.

This week Mr Mitchell told the Star: "I had just finished a job at Felmongers and was driving away when someone waved me down as I was at the junction and I parked up. We ran around the building and all I could see was black smoke. I could not believe how much smoke was coming from the house."

He added: "The lady was hanging out of the window with her baby. She dropped him and the other lady caught him - they both did really well."

"She said she would jump but she would have broken everything and she wouldn't have managed to make it through the house because of the thick smoke. I got my ladder and put it in a nice place where she could get on it and climb down."

"She walked down forwards rather than backwards and she did very well. She came down, we walked around the side and then the fire engines turned up."

Mr Mitchell left the scene before Robyn was able to find out his name. "I had another appointment to go to. I told her I had to go and made my way," he said. "I just did it. I had the ladder and it was fate. In situations like that you just do it."

Nursery's garden 'trashed' by yobs

VICTIMS: Staff and children at Smiles Montessori Pre-School whose playground was targeted by vandals

STAFF at a children's nursery in Harlow returned after the weekend to find vandals had broken toys, smashed plant pots and destroyed plants.

The damage at Smiles Montessori Pre-School, in The Fairway, is believed to have been caused by a group of youths who climbed over a brick wall to get into the playground.

Children at the nursery had recently finished planting summer flowers in their classes before the vandals struck on Saturday, March 22.

Kelly Mair, room leader at the nursery, said: "We got in on the

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Monday morning and went to unlock the garden ready for the children to play in when we saw the damage.

"It was trashed. They had thrown stuff across the garden, it was just a mess."

"There are some things we have managed to put back together, like some of the toys which is good. Once we put them back together they were still able to be used by the children."

"But the plants and plant pots were smashed. The children had just planted them all so we will be doing them again as soon as we can because they were really excited about seeing their plants and flowers grow."

She added: "There was soil everywhere and it took us a good hour to clean everything up."

"It was sad to see really but we kept the children inside and tried to have everything cleaned up as soon as."

Anyone with any information about the incident is asked to call PC Mark Smith at Harlow Police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Please recycle this newspaperREADERS LETTERS*Tories have no plan to tackle the rising costs of childcare*SIR, Parents could be forgiven for thinking they are in for a £2,000 subsidy on their childcare costs under plans announced by the Government last week.

While any new money to help families facing soaring childcare costs is welcome, this Coalition con should not fool mums and dads in Harlow.

Childcare costs have risen by 30 per cent since 2010 – five times faster than wages. Despite the struggle this is causing families, David Cameron has no plan to tackle the rising cost of childcare before the next election.

Alongside higher prices, parents suffering a cost-of-living crisis are seeing fewer childcare places available and reduced support from the Government. By 2015 it will have reduced support for children and families by up to £15bn.

Labour has a very clear offer for all working parents of three-four year-olds and for all primary school age children. We will extend free nursery provision from 15 to 25 hours a week for working parents with three and four year olds.

We will also introduce a Primary Childcare Guarantee to help parents manage the logistical nightmare of arranging before and after school care. These plans are on top of the Government's scheme and would benefit all parents in work.

In contrast, just one in five families will receive help through tax-free childcare and they would have to spend £10,000 per year per child to get the maximum £2,000 figure. Even then, this help won't come in until after the election.

That's no help on childcare for five years from the Conservatives. Instead, ministers have presided over soaring costs and cut tax credits for thousands of families, meaning even when this help comes in most families will still be worse off than they were in 2010.

This offer just doesn't make up for how much more families are paying for childcare under David Cameron.

Labour is on the side of local families and would put an end to childcare holding back mums and dads.

Suzy Stride
Labour parliamentary candidate for HarlowTake some time to reflect on the consequences of tax cuts*SIR, Obviously tax cuts have their consequences.

A reduction in fuel tax can encourage car use. Fewer children, walking to school, more cars to cause havoc and road safety dangers around school gates just as the lollipop school crossing service is ended.

Bingo tax is reduced whilst our important and underfunded youth services are cut back further.

A penny off a pint of beer could see even more late night revellers staggering - or being stretched - into our overworked A&E.

country of the 197 in the United Nations. Just think what it must be like in country 197.

But it's not all doom and gloom - our fortunate and more affluent households can now have a taxpayer-subsidised au pair/nanny!

Ron Bill
Upper Park, HarlowFurniture flytippers working under the cover of darkness*SIR, Further to my recent letter regarding rubbish being dumped along the town's cycle tracks, those responsible have moved up the scale.

On a recent walk I found a bed and an armchair as well as electrical and kitchen equipment and cabinets.

The street lights go off at midnight and I can't help wondering if they were suddenly switched back on at say 12.30am if we would see hordes of people carrying unwanted furniture around our streets.

Do they think the pixies take away the rubbish? I know the council makes a charge for special collections but I'm willing to bet that the flytippers can still afford their beer, cigarettes and Sky Sports but wouldn't dream of paying to have their rubbish taken away.

Alan Tichy
Chapel Field, HarlowParking permits an easy way for the council to raise cash*SIR, I am writing about the outrageous decision by Harlow Council to raise the price of residential parking permits and question the way in which it now views the whole scheme.

At the outset of the scheme it was seen as a way of giving residents in certain key areas an element of protection from commuter parking during busy periods. But with the increase of residential car ownership and shortage of parking spaces at all times it now feels like an unofficial tax on those who pay for them.

Considering the low level of service afforded to the areas concerned, it feels like we are no more than an easy target for the council to raise additional funds without any recourse from the residents.

When you look into the new proposals you could also think that they would like to see the limited assistance given to our retired community gone, if not by total abolition but by the way a house of mixed ages with more than one car has to pay.

The whole scheme has become a sham and the council cannot justify this stealth tax upon a limited portion of Harlow residents without doing a great deal more in the affected areas to ease the parking problems.

Or perhaps the council tax for the residents should be cut to reflect the difficulties faced in those areas.

Unfortunately it seems that attitudes have changed since the passing of the town charter and the whole idea of Harlow being a total community working with and for the people of Harlow.

Kevin Seale
address suppliedDon't waste money on this plan to demolish garages*SIR, No, not everyone is happy with the planners' decision for the Fesants Croft garages (Star, March 27).

The area has had major parking problems for years with no provision for existing residents. To demolish the recently refurbished garages is a waste of money.

The new houses would only be metres away from First Avenue and the extremely busy A414 intersection with 1,600 vehicles per day at this time. The long-term health of the people living in this ill-thought-out planning application has not been considered

S. Brachtvogel
Fesants Croft HarlowSIR, Harlow Council, by its own admission, lacks any experience over the past 25 years of building houses, yet it has approved the construction of seven within yards of a busy highway.

The planning department did not provide any information on the potential carcinogenic effects or noise pollution to local residents before a vote was taken on the plans.

The residents of Fesants Croft were, and still are, opposed to these houses being built at that location. We are not against the building of two-bedroom houses in an appropriate location, but a few existing trees will not purify the air or nullify the sound from the huge volume of vehicles the residents of these seven houses will be subjected to.

It has also emerged the council wants to bulldoze a further 13 garages in Fesants Croft. Within the past two months repairs have been carried out to some of these garages at great cost to the council.

If these 13 garages are destroyed the council will lose a potential income of £55,432 over a period of 10 years.

Finally, the council didn't plan any access to the site for the builders or their vehicles directly from First Avenue. All of the construction vehicles will access the site via a crowded single road and cul-de-sac full of residents' cars.

Council seeking tenants views on home improvements

HARLOW Council housing tenants who have had home improvements carried out are being invited to share their experiences.

The meeting will be held at The Wayne in Old Harlow on Wednesday, April 9 and will be attended by tenant representatives, council staff and housing tenant representatives.

The meeting is part of a new review group set up following discussions with tenant representatives through the Repairs Standards Panel and the Housing Standards Board.

The group is looking for tenants' views and suggestions on how the Modern Council Homes programme, which recently celebrated completing 3,000 improvements since its start in July 2013, could be improved.

Cllr Rod Truan, cabinet portfolio holder for housing, said: "With around 5,000 home improvements planned for 2014/15 this is the right time to hear from tenants on what has worked well and what could be improved."

Places to the meeting are limited and must be booked by contacting Zulfi Kiani on (01279) 446470 or email tenant.relations@harlow.gov.uk

Stroke at 29 inspires Carina to get healthy

A SLIMMING club consultant who suffered a stroke when she was just 29 years old is hoping to inspire others to embark on a healthier lifestyle.

Carina Trickey, 31, of The Hides, suffered a stroke in March 2012 while planning her wedding to husband Steve. It was the catalyst to get herself back to a healthy weight with the help of Slimming World and eventually inspired her to start her own group.

"I was suddenly aware of my own mortality and how much I'd neglected my health for the sake of convenience," said Carina.

"I'd been advised by my GP to lower my weight and blood pressure, but like most people in that position I wasn't motivated to do anything. The stroke was a stark warning - loud and clear."

She added: "I was at work, around this time two years ago actually just having a normal day. I was on the phone when it happened and in my mind I had said the right thing but it came out all wrong."

"The more I tried to talk, the worse it became. I was only 29, I was a normal person up until then. People think it only happens to older people but that isn't the case."

Carina, who works in sales, decided to join Slimming World after a friend had successfully lost weight with one of the groups.

She added: "I had the typical image of slimming groups and patronising group leaders who humiliated you in front of others. I also assumed the diet would be restrictive and complicated."

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.

"I was at my lowest ebb before joining Slimming World and my self-confidence was very low - I was fearful that sitting amongst strangers talking about my weight would make it worse."

"There was a really friendly, positive atmosphere. Zoe the consultant explained how easy the eating plan was and that no food was restricted. I couldn't believe it."

Last Christmas she reached her chosen target weight loss of 3st and, motivated by her success, trained to become Harlow's newest Slimming World consultant with her Wednesday group starting on April 21 at 7.30pm at Summers Leisure Centre.

"I want people to come along, be inspired and to take control of their future health now," she said.

"I'm really excited for the group to start. As much as I wish it hadn't happened it has made me make a positive change."

"Hopefully, I'll be able to stop someone from having a stroke too, and help them make a small change to becoming a healthier person."

Postman binned mail because he did not like his job and wanted to finish work early

A POSTMAN who threw away hundreds of letters at a recycling depot in Harlow because he did not like his job and wanted to finish work early has avoided a jail sentence.

Chelmsford Magistrates Court was told James Misselbrook, 22, of Albert Gardens, Harlow, also threw away mail in his own dustbin at home and kept others in his garden shed and car ready for disposal.

Misselbrook pleaded guilty to intentionally delaying 1,983 postal packets between September 11 and November 24 last year and to an offence of stealing 1,500 packets between the November 1 and 24.

He was given a 12-month community order and told to complete 150 hours of unpaid work.

The court was told Misselbrook had only been a postman in Brentwood for five months when the offences came to light.

Shelley Webster, prosecuting, said that on November 22 Royal Mail customer services were contacted by an employee at the household waste recycling depot in Templefields after workers there found a bag containing mail packets.

Misselbrook was interviewed by Royal Mail investigators and his property searched. Two pouches of bundles of mail were found in his car, four in his garden shed and five in a dustbin. He said he had planned to dump them.

Only two letters had been opened and there was no suggestion the defendant had stolen any of the contents.

He said he did not particularly enjoy the job he did but he needed the money. He added he wanted to get off work at 1.30pm.

In court, Misselbrook said he regretted what he had done. "I was not in a good place; I had just left the military where I knew what missing home was like and prior to joining Royal Mail I had a baby boy," he told the magistrates.

"I was finding myself working from early hours in the morning until late afternoon or early evening due to the fact I was doing different walks every day which I didn't particularly know. I was just finding it hard to be away for such a long day."

He added that travelling from home to Brentwood was costly and he wasn't earning much.

The court heard that in June 2012 Misselbrook left the RAF because of a knee injury which coincided with his partner's pregnancy. He was earning £325 a fortnight with Royal Mail and was struggling financially.

Air ambulance service evolves with fast response car teams

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

INJURED and critically ill people in Hertfordshire and Essex now benefit from an extended service operated by the air ambulance trust.

During the hours of darkness on Friday and Saturday nights – when the service's helicopters are grounded – a specialist doctor/paramedic team will aid patients via a dedicated fast response car.

The new cars were unveiled at the CEME Conference Centre in Rainham, Essex, last Wednesday.

The dispatch process and criteria for the response cars will be exactly the same as that for the helicopter service. They will carry full life-saving equipment and drugs enabling them to continue to offer the most appropriate and advanced emergency department level of care at the scene.

However, unlike the helicopters, the cars are not weather dependent and will, therefore, improve the resilience of the service.

Ben Myer, deputy clinical manager for the Essex & Herts Air Ambulance Trust, said: "The process of car selection started over a year ago and has involved an extensive trial period and search for suitable vehicles that meet the required criteria for safety, storage space for medical equipment, security, comfort, and of course, responsiveness and handling.

"This resulted in the charity purchasing two Vauxhall Insignia VXR's fitted with state-of-the-art blue lights and bespoke livery.

Dr Adam Chesters, who is responsible for clinical research and training at the trust, said: "Deploying a car-based doctor/paramedic team is an exciting evolution of the service that will allow us to continue to provide advanced care to our patients, even when the helicopter is not available.

"We are excited to be able to use this extended service as we continue to train new doctors and paramedics as part of a national training initiative for pre-hospital medical care."

Telephone fraudsters target more victims

DETECTIVES in Essex have repeated their warnings about telephone fraudsters after attempts were made to scam 21 more people in less than 24 hours.

In the latest incidents the callers targeted people living in the south of the county, but in the past they have struck in both Harlow and Epping.

Twenty of the intended victims quickly realised they were the targets in the long-running scam, but in one case a man was tricked into handing over his credit and bank cards and about £2,500 was withdrawn from a local ATM machine.

In all cases the caller claimed to be a police officer who said the victims' bank cards had been cloned or that suspects had been arrested in possession of stolen bank cards.

Detective Chief Inspector Paul Maleary, who is leading the investigation into the frauds, said: "These criminals are having a significant impact on some of the most vulnerable members of our society and sadly no individual is immune from this type of fraud."

"These thieves keep varying their stories and trying different tricks to encourage people to hand over bank details or large sums of cash. Fortunately our intensive media campaigns warning of this scam have been working well and the majority of people quickly hang up or tell the tricksters to go away in no uncertain terms."

He added: "We urge all relatives and friends of elderly people to make sure that they are extremely wary of any callers claiming to be police officers or bank officials who want bank cards, PIN number or large sums of cash which they claim need to be forensically examined."

"All their claims are absolute rubbish because the police and banks would never ask for details over the phone then send a courier to collect cards or cash."

More than 100 people in Essex have been tricked out of money since the scam first came to light in January last year.

Sporting challenges raise £790

CHILDREN and staff at Pear Tree Mead Primary School in Harlow proved they were good sports when they set about raising cash for charity.

The school held a number of events and managed to raise £790 for Sport Relief.

Harlow Town Football Club arranged a penalty shootout competition at the school and pupils visited Passmores Academy for trampolining and also took part in a sponsored swim.

Staff also joined in with the challenges with a teacher vs teachers netball match and a pupils vs teachers basketball match.

The week ended with children from all year groups dressing up in their brightest and most imaginative outfits as part of a wild and wacky theme and taking it in turns to race their friends in a charity mile.

Laura Tyler, the school's PE co-ordinator, said: "It was really good. We did a whole Sport Relief week with activities held every day for pupils to get active and raise some money.

"We raised a fantastic £790 and finished things off with the Sport Relief mile which is five laps of our school field, although some students completed two miles by doing 10 laps.

"We also invited parents and carers along who took part in the race by walking, skipping or running to raise money."

Safety patrols in 'sponsor us' plea to firms

A RESCUE package offering businesses the opportunity to sponsor Harlow's lollipop patrols has been tabled as a way to save the "incredibly important" service.

Potter Street lollipop lady Jane Chivrell urged the business community to "show their support" for the scheme before they put their case to Essex County Council.

She said: "The vision of school patrols needs to be bought into the 21st century. We need to protect this important service."

Supported by Harlow MP Robert Halfon, Ms Chivrell and the town's other lollipop patrollers are hoping the idea will help save the service.

Schools with patrols on zebra or pelican crossings will have to pay £5,860 a year if they want to keep their lollipop person. The county council is also operating a recruitment freeze on vacant routes while it is carrying out consultations.

Mr Halfon raised the issue in the House of Commons at the end of last week when he asked if the Government would consider using alternative sources of funding such as the education budget "so that we can support hard-working Harlow lollipop men and women?"

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

He asked Leader of the House of Commons Andrew Lansley to raise the matter with other departments and tabled a parliamentary motion on the subject

Mr Halfon has also written to schools minister David Laws calling for alternative budgets to be used to safeguard the service.

In his letter he wrote: "Headteachers from both schools [Potter Street Academy and William Martin Primary] have spoken out against this consultation and many parents have contacted me with concerns. Over 200 Harlow residents have signed a petition against it.

"I am also interested to know if there is any provision in the education budget for funding such a valuable resource as their presence is so beneficial?"

"Harlow's road traffic patrollers are extremely important to Harlow as a community and do an incredibly important job in making sure that our young school children get to school safely."

Euro MP praises cultural diversity

EURO MP and former Harlow Council leader Richard Howitt was in town on Saturday as guest speaker at an event to celebrate cultural diversity.

The event, organised by 'Efua Sey, was held in Market Square and included Michael Jackson tribute act Rory Jackson, an African dance performance and costume-making demonstrations.

Mr Howitt applauded Harlow's tradition of welcoming diversity, adding: "Everyone knows immigration has to be controlled but a message which vilifies foreigners causes unnecessary division in our community and should not be welcome in Harlow."

"Europe is not about making everyone the same but celebrating and preserving the historic and language differences between 28 different countries on our continent."

Pizza delivery man Cam wins hero vote

PIZZA delivery driver Kader Cam has pocketed £2,000 after being named Delivery Hero of the Year.

Kader, who works for Cafe Pizzeria at Bush Fair, won the competition which was run by the food ordering website hungryhouse.

The trainee plumber, who works with his wife Clare at the eatery, received thousands of votes from the public after the Star featured his video on our website.

A warm welcome at Forever Friends

A GROUP of volunteers will soon be celebrating the first anniversary of the opening of a day club for people with disabilities or learning difficulties.

Forever Friends, which started last May, opens every Monday after the organisers realised a similar club already running in the town was closed on that day and so decided to plug the gap.

The club, which is run entirely by volunteers at the David Livingstone Club in Potter Street, offers games and activities as well as lunch and refreshments to the members.

Those attending can also be driven to the venue by minibus for a small charge.

Linda Jacobs, a volunteer at the club, said: "We are there all day. We play games in the morning and offer refreshments all day."

"We also provide a meal with pudding at lunchtimes. It's a chance for people to come and spend the day and take part in different activities."

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"We had 15 people or so in our very first session back in May and ever since then, we have had 14-20 people each week which is good. Everyone is always welcome here to spend some time and meet new friends."

She added: "The group is very friendly. We try to make everyone welcome and nobody is required to stay the whole day if they don't want to. It's just about providing a space for people to come and socialise and relax."

"We would love to get more volunteers and any suggestions or ideas are always appreciated. We're always happy to listen to ideas on how we can improve what we do."

Forever Friends runs every Monday at from 10am-3.30pm. For more information or to offer your services as a volunteer, contact Linda on (01279) 494143.

Staff at Lancaster Volkswagen Harlow, in River Way, will be wearing green for the day, baking green cakes to sell and offering a car wash service on the forecourt for a £5 donation to the charity, which works with NHS services to ensure improvements are made in delivering wheelchair services for children.

The dealership, which hopes to raise £3,500 by the end of the year, will also be holding a raffle where customers could win the use of a VW Golf for a week.

Brand manager Alan Finnie said: "We are delighted to be supporting Whizz-Kidz and help to equip more disabled young people with their wheels."

Wax a good way to raise cash

A HEALTH therapist preparing to set off on a fundraising Cuban trek roped in two work colleagues to help boost her fundraising total.

Kim Jarvis, 57, helped to wax the chests of Park Inn Hotel manager Glen Armstrong and staff member Marcel de Wijk. The pair were sponsored in aid of the breast cancer trials unit at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

"The waxing went well, it was painful though," said Kim. "I don't like hurting people so I was apologising after every strip, but the guys did really well."

Kim, who works in the health club at the hotel in Southern Way, Harlow, also hosted a quiz night, raffle and auction which managed to raise a total of £1,400.

She hopes to raise £4,000 before she flies out on Monday for the five-day trek across the central mountains in Cuba.

"The charity night was great. There were a few hiccups but we managed

Residents' disgust at flowerbed theft

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

VOLUNTEERS whose horticultural efforts added a splash of colour to a Harlow estate have voiced their disgust after the plants were stolen.

Members of Moorfield Residents' Association discovered that £200 worth of plants and bulbs had been pulled out of flowerbeds on the estate just days after the bulbs had started to open.

The residents association had worked with Harlow Council and Kier for a number of years maintaining the landscaped areas within the estate. Last year, after receiving a grant from Harlow Council, the group decided to focus their attention on one particular area.

The money was spent on replanting a 'tired' bed, in an effort to regenerate and smarten this particular area of the estate.

Association vice-chairman Derek Coles said: "We're not going to think about replacing them until we have some level of surveillance in place as they'll just keep nicking them."

Green-fingered volunteers give boost to area

Volunteers from Moorfield Residents' Association and Harlow Council's Kier team have been seen working together to plant flowers in a garden bed. The group, which includes children and adults, are dressed in casual outdoor clothing. The scene is set in a landscaped area with other plants visible in the background.

"Getting people involved is like pushing water up a hill, once you've got them and they see the fruits of their efforts ripped up out of the ground its disappointing."

The police are investigating the theft which took place last month.

Over a five-week period in June volunteers cleaned and dug up unsightly landscaped beds and planters.

Mr Coles said: "Much of what has been achieved has been in conjunction with Harlow Council and it's landscaping and diversity department along with Kier landscaping who have helped the association in helping themselves smarten up Moorfield."

Camera clue to filling station food shop thief

POLICE have added to their gallery of suspected shoplifters at a petrol filling station in Harlow by releasing yet another image.

The man in the picture is thought to have helped himself to five packs of gammon steaks from the M&S Simply Food store at the BP filling station in Southern Way.

He was filmed shortly after 9am on Tuesday, March 4, leaving the premises without making any attempt to pay for the items.

Anyone who recognises the man in the picture is asked to contact PC Michael Ornellas at Harlow police station on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

CAR park security at Harlow Mill station has resulted in train operator Greater Anglia retaining its Park Mark award.

The award, which is reviewed annually, is part of the Safer Parking Scheme run by the Association of Chief Police Officers in recognition of measures used to deter crime and anti-social behaviour.

Greater Anglia customer service director Andrew Goodrum said: "Passenger safety is our top priority and I am delighted Harlow Mill has retained its Park Mark award for another year."

"I hope it will give station users confidence that we continue to take their safety and security very seriously, not only on trains and stations but in our

Security at rail station car park up to the mark parking facilities too."

Stuart Marchant, contracts manager for NCP which operates the car park, added: "We have been very pleased with the close working relationship between ourselves, the rail operator and British Transport Police that has enabled us to successfully retain the Park Mark award."

Easter out & about

EASTER Sunday falls on April 20 this year - a relatively late date so with any luck - the sun will shine and we may even be able to celebrate this wonderful public holiday with the first barbecue of the year! Easter is 'a moveable feast' - so called because the date changes every year. Easter Sunday can fall on any date from March 22 to April 25 because it is based on the lunar calendar rather than our more well-known solar one.

Easter always falls on the first Sunday following the full moon (the Paschal Full Moon) after March 21. If the full moon falls on a Sunday then Easter is the next Sunday.

Of course, Easter is a time for holidays and the beloved chocolate eggs but the event means much more. It is the oldest and the most important Christian festival, the celebration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

For Christians, the dawn of Easter Sunday with its message of new life is the high point of the Christian year.

From Maundy Thursday evening through to the day after Easter Monday, Easter is now a four-day holiday for many. Marking new beginnings, it is an ideal time to celebrate and catch up with friends and family.

It also marks the end of the long winter months and is an ideal opportunity to get out and about.

Whether you're staying at home or planning a few days away this Easter, why not spend some time in our local area? There is so much choice when it comes to places to visit or to eat out.

Why not take the opportunity to visit a National Trust property or take part in one of many local Easter egg hunts?

Whatever you decide to do, take time out and enjoy your surroundings this Easter.

UKIP supporters in publicity blitz on day of action

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MORE than 150 supporters of the UK Independence Party demonstrated their anger at comments by Harlow MP Robert Halfon - in which he described the views of some members as abhorrent - by holding a day of action in the town.

UKIP's East of England Euro MP Stuart Agnew joined some of the party's European Parliament election candidates, communications director Patrick O'Flynn, head of policy Tim Aker and regional chairman George Konstantinidis for the publicity campaign.

Supporters handed out thousands of leaflets as they followed "carefully planned routes" around the town.

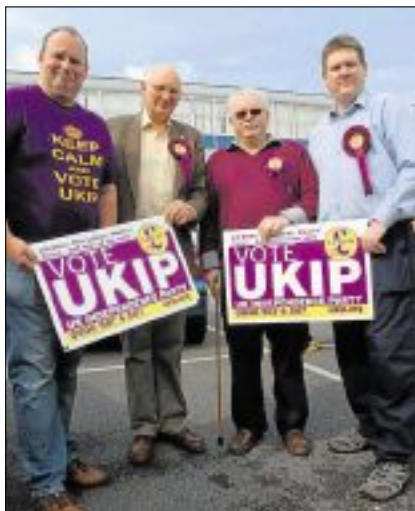

The action day was called by party leader Nigel Farage in response to comments made by Mr Halfon in an interview with parliamentary magazine The House in which he branded the opinions of some UKIP members as "abhorrent and frightening".

Mr Halfon said the call by one UKIP Euro MP for Muslims to sign a declaration of non-violence was "akin to the Nazis saying Jews should wear a yellow star".

Saturday's day of action was held to promote the party and inform residents of its policies.

Stuart Gulleford, UKIP's East of England spokesman, said: "We had a magnificent day of action with more than 25,000 leaflets being distributed in a few hours. Most political parties would struggle to generate that kind of support."

He confirmed the party would be putting up a candidate in Harlow at the next General Election - a seat that has already been marked by Labour as an important swing seat.

Mr Gulleford added: "We will be campaigning hard on the streets of Harlow between now and the General Election in May 2015. We would like to unseat Mr Halfon, who prefers throwing out unpleasant insults to genuine debate on the issues, which is what we always seek."

UKIP will be holding a meeting tomorrow (Friday) at the Latton Bush Centre from 7pm. The meeting is open to the public and will be addressed by Mr Agnew.

Money off the joys of Essex

A CAMPAIGN encouraging Essex residents to be tourists in their own county with the help of more than £400 worth of discount vouchers was launched this week.

The Live Local, Love Local booklet of coupons offers money-saving deals at a range of attractions, pubs and restaurants.

Last year's campaign generated just under £670,000 of business for those taking part.

The launch of the campaign at Audley End stately home was held to coincide with English Tourism Week.

Voucher books are available from the county's Tourist Information Centres, libraries, visitor attractions, hotels and B&Bs as well as restaurants. They are also available to download from www.visit-essex.com/livelocal.

Cllr Sue Lissimore, Essex County Council's deputy cabinet member for economic growth and infrastructure, said: "We want to improve awareness among local people about what Essex has to offer as a visitor destination, the experiences they can enjoy on their doorstep, and to increase their sense of civic pride."

Ambulance boss 'one of the best'

THE new chief executive of the East of England Ambulance Service has been named one of the best in the NHS.

Dr Anthony Marsh was placed in the Health Service Journal's top 50 chief executives by a panel of experts including NHS England medical director Sir Bruce Keogh.

Dr Marsh said he was flattered, adding: "It is a reflection of the hard work and dedication of ambulance staff who work with me, the passionate way in which they go about their work and how proud they are to work for the NHS."

Scouting families united by marriage

It was a love story with a difference for Harlow resident Christine Selling, whose story joined two big Scouting families.

Also in the photo is her brother, Richard Yates aged 13, who was also a scout. Christine wrote: "Roy, who is now 83 and living in Norfolk remembers the day with fond memories and thinks that they did reach the £2,000 target and my brother who is now 55 lives in Australia."

It is no surprise that Christine spotted some of her family members in the photograph. Her family have a long history with the Scouts after her father joined the group during the Second World War.

She added: "We moved to Harlow in 1958 and when my brother Richard was old enough, he joined the Cubs and went on to the Scouts."

"In 1968, Richard told dad that they were looking for scout leaders, so he started helping out and finally became skip of the 16th Harlow Scout Group. My mum Barbara soon followed suit becoming Akela in the 16th Harlow Cub Scouts, not to be outdone and needing help in the cubs I soon joined, becoming Baloo."

"It seemed the case of 'if you can't beat them join them'."

Christine's family soon became friends with another local family, the Sellings, who also had a long history in Scouting. Both Christine's parents Richard and Barbara became good friends with Eric - leader of 2nd Harlow and, at one point in his Scouting career, assistant district commissioner of both the Scouts and Venture Scouts - and Edna Sellings, Cub leader at 2nd Harlow and assistant Cub leader at 16th Harlow.

"The Sellings son James was also in the Cubs, Scouts and the Venture Scouts until joining the Army in 1970."

"Both families enjoyed many Scout camps home and abroad together, visiting Holland on many occasions and forming great friendships with the Dutch scout movement," Christine said. "In 1971 on a Scout camp at Risden Park, I met Eric and Edna's son Jim who was on leave. To the great delight of both set of parents we started courting and married in 1974, thus bringing the two great scout families together."

"After leaving the army and on the sudden death of his father Eric in December 1974 Jim took over the running of Heracles Venture Scout Extension Group for the disabled, which his father had founded along with the actor John Savident and Wally Grace in 1972."

"Edna is now 94 years old and still has fond memories of those Scouting days, and keeps in regular contact with my parents, often laughing at the antics they all got up to. As my father says 'they were the best years of his life' and still misses his great pal Eric."

"Great friendships were formed during these Scouting days, sadly many are not with us any more, but for us the memories and camaraderie stays with us to this day."

Tragedy of three brothers in arms

On the Netteswell and Burnt Mill memorial are inscribed the names of three brothers - all of whom died during the First World War. Corporal Francis Riley, Private Thomas Riley and Private Cecil Riley all lived in Burnt Mill before enlisting.

According to War Memorials and War Graves in Harlow by Arthur Graham, all three brothers were killed within 18 months of each other.

Cecil served in the Fifth Battalion of the East Kent Regiment. He died of dysentery on May 13, 1916 at the age of 18.

Francis was in the Eight Battalion of the Bedfordshire Regiment and died from his wounds on February 6, 1917. He was 21-years-old and married to Ida Riley, according to the Commonwealth War Graves Commission.

Thomas, who served in the Fourth Battalion of the Essex Regiment, also died of dysentery at the age of 19 on September 2, 1915.

All three brothers, whose parents were Arthur and Mary Elizabeth Riley are commemorated on the Burnt Mill memorial.

Their youngest brother, Jack, survived his siblings and is believed to have later married and had three children - two daughters and one son.

Stow the worst in hole poll

A POTHOLE in The Stow has been named by Star readers as the worst in the town.

According to a poll on our website of 10 potholes across the town, some 26.2 per cent of voters think The Stow is in most need of repair.

Many voters picked potholes in Bush Fair (18 per cent), Third Avenue/Second Avenue (11.5 per cent) and Tawneys Road (11.5 per cent).

One reader tweeted: "Essex roads are becoming a serious hazard."

Another reader tweeted: "People of Harlow should march on the council."

Figures handed to the Daily Telegraph under the Freedom of Information Request last month, show the number of people successfully suing Essex County Council over road defects has nearly trebled over 12 months.

More than 550 successfully claimed injury and vehicle-related damages in 2013 compared with 166 in 2012.

The figures show that 2,766 claims were submitted in 2013 compared with 1,648 in 2012.

Residents can report potholes by visiting www.essex.gov.uk/highways or by calling 0845 603 7631.

If you spot a pothole that needs repairing tweet us @HarlowStar or find us on Facebook.

NICE ICE BABY: Steve Daniel, centre, with St Clare Hospice events co-ordinator Rebekah Birch and friend Brian Whitnall

Steve's n-ice fundraiser for hospice

AN ice cream seller whose fleet of vans are a familiar sight in Harlow has come up with a cool fundraiser for St Clare Hospice.

Steve Daniel, 37, will donate a percentage of his takings if one of his 'Steve's Ices' vans are booked to attend any event such as school fetes, family fun days, music festivals, country shows or weddings.

He will also be running the London Marathon with Brian Whitnall, 40, from Harlow, later this month to raise money for the hospice.

Together the pair, who have both had family members and friends cared for at St Clare, have so far raised more than £1,000.

Steve said he wanted "to give something back for the great work St Clare does".

He said: "We are expecting to have a really busy summer and are hoping people will book us for their fetes and fairs so we can raise as much money as possible for the hospice."

To boost his fundraising efforts, Steve has also been placing collection tins on the counters of his fleet including the three vans that do the rounds in Harlow and his hotdog stall in the Water Gardens.

"Our customers are so generous and we've had loads of donations just by having the tins on the vans so we know there is so much support out there for the hospice," he added.

Council steps in to save historic orchard

A NEW volunteer group is to be formed to safeguard an historic fruit-picking site in Sawbridgeworth.

The future of the Rivers Nursery, which was founded in 1725 and has links to Charles Darwin, was thrown into doubt after its supporters' group decided to fold.

The Orchard Group blamed its closure on East Herts District Council's failure to honour a pledge made in 2009 to extend its lease of the Rivers Nursery Site.

The council responded by saying that an option notice had been served by the land-owner, leaving it with no choice.

In the meantime the town council has been working to save the orchard on a six-acre plot on Green Belt land to the west of the town.

At a full council meeting on Monday mayor elect Eric Buckmaster, who also serves as a district councillor, thanked the group for its hard work over the years.

He continued: "From last Tuesday morning officers and members of this council acted with the common purpose of ensuring that an active interest group remains in place and that as many of the assets as possible be secured."

"Rather than wait for residents to come to us we sought out key members of the former group. We now believe that we have a critical mass of supporters to form a new association."

A meeting was due to take place yesterday

(Wednesday) to discuss the continued use of the site. It is hoped the new group will be launched in the near future.

Cllr Buckmaster proposed that each year the town mayor take on the additional role of championing the orchard. That, he said, would leave "no doubt as to how seriously we value this nationally important asset".

Sawbridgeworth county councillor Roger Beeching added: "We can't emphasise too strongly how unique it is - and one doesn't use the word unique lightly."

"The town council putting their weight behind it is enormously important."

Driver suffers minor injuries after car overturns

A STRETCH of Edinburgh Way in Harlow was closed for three hours on Tuesday while emergency services dealt with a serious road accident.

Both carriageways between the junctions of Elizabeth Way and Howard Way were shut to vehicles after a Kia Cee'd overturned.

The driver of the car was taken to Princess Alexandra

Hospital in Harlow with minor injuries.

The road was closed for three hours while oil and debris was cleared from the carriageway.

The plane now arriving is a WW2 Dakota

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

LORRIERS carrying sections of a Second World War plane are pictured arriving at North Weald Airfield ahead of a two-year restoration project.

Commercial pilot David Petters, who has plans to use the DC-3 Dakota for passenger flights, arranged for the aircraft to be taken in parts to the airfield from RAF Shawbury in Shropshire.

The restoration will be carried out by Dakotair, of which Mr Petters is co-director, so the public can once again experience flying in the aircraft.

The 29-year-old, from Bishop's Stortford, said: "The first word that springs to mind when thinking about this project is exciting. The prospect of bringing passenger flights on the Dakota back to the UK is great."

"The last passenger flight on a Dakota was in 2008."

The plane was built in Long Beach, California, in 1942. It spent its first year in Canada before it was brought to the UK and, in 1945, used during Operation Varsity - a joint American-British operation that took place above the River Rhine in Germany.

It is regarded as the largest airborne operation in history, involving several thousand aircraft and more than 16,000 paratroopers.

In 1955 the Dakota became a cargo carrier. In 2000 it was retired from service and moved to RAF Shawbury.

The transportation involved multiple companies, including Sawbridgeworth crane company High Drive Recruitment, and saw the plane taken along the M6, M1, M25 and M11 to its new home in Essex.

Mr Petters, who flies 900 hours a year for budget airline Ryanair, said that around £200,000 would have to be spent to get the plane in a condition to carry passengers.

In order to raise funds, Dakotair is offering people the chance to sponsor a rivet. It is also holding a D-day dance in June.

Once the necessary work has been carried out the plane should be able to carry 32 people at a time, with flights expected to cost £75 per person.

REVVED UP: David Petters, left, and Thibault Renier, co-directors of Dakotair, with the engines of the Dakota DC-3

Hair-raising fun and costume catwalk

HOLY CROSS ACADEMY

Children from all years went all out to show their love of books by dressing up as their favourite fictional characters and taking part in a costume catwalk.

And following on from World Book Day and as part of Traces Road school's enterprise skills, pupils in Year 6 organised a mad hair day.

Admin manager Dawn Marlow said: "All the children celebrated World Book Day. Everyone looked absolutely fantastic in their costumes and so did their teachers."

"The children had the opportunity to share their favourite books in a class assembly and watched the Greatest Book Show on Earth. After that they enjoyed a costume catwalk."

She added: "Mad Hair Day was a great opportunity for pupils to go wild and have fun with their hair."

"A winner was selected from each class (pictured left) and they received a prize. The day was entirely organised by our Year 6 children as part of their business enterprise skills."

Toddlers are dressed to impress

SCHOOLGATE NURSERY

Youngsters and staff at the Carters Mead pre-school celebrated World Book Day by dressing up.

The children chose characters ranging from the Gruffalo and the Little Green Man to a shark and, of course, several different princesses.

Nursery staff also joined in by dressing as animals.

Nursery manager Anita Parrish said: "The day went extremely well. The children dressed as their favourite characters and they all loved it."

"We celebrate World Book Day to promote the importance of books and reading as well as the importance of improving their literacy and language development."

"It was a really enjoyable day for all. We had a lovely event where parents with a second language could come and read to children, so we had Polish, Czech and Chinese reading sessions which was great."

Celebration of numbers and words

ST LUKE'S ACADEMY

Number lovers and bookworms had a chance to embrace their favourite subjects during a maths workshop and World Book Day celebrations.

Parents and carers were invited to the Pynest Road school to attend the maths event where several activities were laid on to demonstrate to parents what their children were learning.

Nitin Mistr, the school's maths co-ordinator, said: "We were really encouraged to see so many parents who gave up their time to attend the workshop."

"It was a wonderful opportunity for parents to get hands on with their children and see what we do in our maths class."

There was also a treat to celebrate World Book Day when author Damian Harvey dropped in to read some of his poems and show the children how books are made.

The school held a book fair and staff and children ended the week by dressing up as their favourite book characters.

I feel a little sheepish

ONE of the world's rarest breeds of sheep has been born at an animal charity's centre in Kent.

The male Cameroon lamb weighed 1lb 4oz (0.57kg) when it came into the world at Artisan Rare Breeds in Dartford, Kent this week.

There are fewer than 650 of the domesticated animals left in the world and the unnamed animal's birth would go some way to helping protect the west African species.

The lamb will only grow to around 25kg (55lb) when it is about three.

Wayne May, the charity's director, said: "We are ecstatic because it's only the 661st in the world, and we are also set to see another two sets of twins born here."

"They are like a dwarf species and are extremely small because of the type of regions they are used to living in. They deal with extreme heat and a lack of grass."

Council
Working together for Harlow

Volunteers required to aid tenants and leaseholders

Harlow Council is seeking enthusiastic and community-minded tenants and resident leaseholders of Harlow Council to act as Designated Persons on behalf of tenants and resident leaseholders as part of the complaints handling process.

This is an important role which has come about as a result of the introduction of the Localism Act 2010, and will involve helping to resolve complaints against the Council's Housing Landlord service about housing management, repairs, leaseholds, transfers and mutual exchanges.

The Council has a three-stage internal complaints procedure, which does, in most cases, resolve issues. Tenants and leaseholders who are not satisfied with the outcome of their complaint after this process can request the assistance of the Designated Person who will step in to see if they can find a resolution before it is referred to the Housing Ombudsman.

It is unlikely to require very much of your time. However, it may be necessary to work outside of normal working hours. Full training will be available to the successful applicant.

Please note that if you are already involved with Housing Service, for example as a member of a standards panel or the Housing Standards Board, you will not be eligible to apply.

For more information and a Volunteer Profile please contact Zulfi Kiani, Tenant Initiative Officer on 01279 446330 or email tenant.relations@harlow.gov.uk

HARLOW Playhouse is preparing for the Easter break, with rehearsals in full swing for its whirlwind of holiday musical, The Wizard of Oz.

With a very funny script, numerous chart-topping hits and lots of surprises along the way, the show is designed for the whole family. The show also features Tom Swift, returning to the Playhouse after his hugely popular roles in Aladdin, Beauty and The Beast and Peter Pan.

Playhouse manager Scott Ramsay said "The show is looking wonderful, bright and fun. We're also delighted to introduce some surprises with the Munchkins and Toto the dog, who has just arrived from Canada."

"The show runs at the Playhouse for the first week of the

Alan gets his hands dirty

TELEVISION gardening guru Alan Titchmarsh is looking forward to getting his hands dirty at RHS Chelsea Flower Show this year.

Instead of wearing a sharp suit to present the show, for the first time in 30 years, he will be wearing a pair of gloves and designing a garden instead.

Obviously, there's a substantial chance it will be rather good, too – not only is Titchmarsh one of the country's best-known gardening presenters, but back in 1985, when Titchmarsh last designed a garden at the prestigious Chelsea, he was awarded an RHS Gold Medal for his Country Kitchen garden.

He will also be joining forces with another RHS Chelsea Flower Show Gold Medal winner, Kate Gould, to create From The Moors To The Sea – a celebration of 50 years of the RHS Britain in Bloom campaign, to represent how 300,000 volunteers help to make Britain bloom and explore Alan's relationship with horticulture through his life.

"It's 50 years since I started work as an apprentice, so I thought I could either do a 1960s-style garden through to the 21st century, but the 60s were a bit dull, all rose beds and lawns. So I thought, why don't I demonstrate where I first started, which was the Yorkshire moors, up to where I garden now, on the coast on the Isle of Wight?"

"So we will be sloping from moorland

By Hannah Stephenson

at the back, with dry stone walls, coming down to a seaside garden at the front. It's 50 years of 'my journey', to use the X Factor phrase.

"It's also showing the British Isles and its variety. Being a cool temperate set of islands, the range we can grow is incredibly wide and this will show the richness of the British Isles."

He'll be featuring pines, heathers and birches from the moorland, through wild flowers, down to seaside plants including echiums and cabbage palms. It will be a 10m by 15m microcosm of British gardens and landscapes.

It sounds great, but how does Titchmarsh feel about not presenting the Chelsea coverage for the first time in 30 years?

Last year Titchmarsh announced he was stepping down from the BBC's coverage of Chelsea after programme-makers offered him a more 'limited' role, although he remains RHS vice president and first ambassador.

"[I feel] wonderful," he insists. "I'm putting a show garden together – I've done it before and I love doing it. It's technically an exhibit but will look like a show garden. It's not being judged but the same criteria and standard of finish will have to be there."

"I've moved on," he continues. "There was disappointment but it's gone, I'm over it. There's no point in dwelling on things."

It's all part of a new beginning for Titchmarsh, who began his career as that apprentice for Ilkley Council, before becoming the face of BBC2's Gardeners' World for six years until 2002. He also presented Ground Force, How To Be A Gardener and several natural history series, and has written a number of bestselling novels and has a regular slot on Classic FM.

He's had eight years presenting an afternoon chat show too, though this is also ending after its last run in autumn.

"It's better to stop doing something when you're still regarded as being successful, while people are still watching, rather than it going off the boil. It will be my 15th series in the autumn, that's eight years."

"It's every day. Jonathan Ross and Graham Norton do one a week. I do five. I thought, let's stop while it's doing well."

He's certainly got enough else to keep him occupied too, with forthcoming TV projects including a two-parter about the gardens of Buckingham Palace, out in December, a new series of Love Your Garden in the summer and a series called Britain's Best Gardens for ITV, in which he explores 30 of Britain's best domestic gardens.

DIVERGENT
certificate 12A, 2h19m

ADAPTED from the opening book of Veronica Roth's best-selling trilogy for young adults, Divergent is a rites of passage story baked to a similar recipe as The Hunger Games.

Neil Burger's film separates a gungho heroine from the people she loves and compels her to undergo a series of gruelling challenges, killing fellow teenagers to ensure her survival.

Shailene Woodley, who was deservedly nominated for a Golden Globe opposite George Clooney in The Descendants, is perfectly cast as the teenage protagonist who leads the rebellion against a corrupt system.

A slow-burning romantic subplot ensures the target audience will swoon as the heroine suffers exquisite pangs of first love, while a tub-thumping denouement sets the scene for the next two instalments, released in 2015 and 2016 respectively.

Futuristic Chicago is divided into five factions - Abnegation, Amity, Candor, Dauntless and Erudite - which exemplify positive aspects of the human personality: selflessness, cordiality, honesty, intelligence and courage. On a specific day each year, 16-year-olds undergo an aptitude test that reveals their destiny.

Beatrice Prior (Woodley) is poised to take that test. She lives in Abnegation with her brother Caleb (Ansel Elgort) and parents Andrew (Tony Goldwyn) and Natalie (Ashley Judd) but questions where her future lies. The results of her test are inconclusive and Tori (Maggie Q), who administers the procedure behind closed doors, tells the 16-year-old she is a Divergent.

Beatrice must hide her status because Divergents threaten the finely balanced system and are being hunted by Jeanine Matthews (Kate Winslet), the leader of Erudite.

When the time comes to choose her destiny, Beatrice opts for Dauntless and begins rigorous training under hunky instructor Four (Theo James). But fellow newcomer Peter (Miles Teller) takes an immediate dislike to Beatrice and attempts to bully her out of Dauntless.

However, she is resilient and draws encouragement from three new friends, Christina (Zoe Kravitz), Al (Christian Madsen) and Will (Ben Lloyd-Hughes).

Divergent feels a smidgen light on exposition and character development but Woodley is terrific and she catalyses smouldering on-screen chemistry with James, while Winslet sinks her pearly whites into her first villainous role.

certificate 12A, 2h18m

AN opening voiceover booms "In the beginning there was nothing," thus condensing the fall of Adam and Eve and blood spilt between Cain and Abel into a mosaic of haunting images.

While the descendants of Cain spread greed and wickedness, the descendants of Seth - Cain's surviving brother - work the land, taking only what they need.

The last of this righteous bloodline, Noah (Russell Crowe), lives with his wife Naameh (Jennifer Connelly) and sons Shem (Douglas Booth), Ham (Logan Lerman) and Japheth (Leo McHugh Carroll).

One night, Noah experiences a vision of a devastating flood. A visit to the mountainous lair of Noah's grandfather Methuselah (Anthony Hopkins) confirms the prediction and Noah accepts his task to build an ark capable of temporarily housing one pair of "all that creeps, all that crawls, all that slithers".

He is aided by the three boys, adopted daughter Ila (Emma Watson) and an army of rock-encrusted fallen angels. But Tubal-cain (Ray Winstone), a bad apple from the other branch of the family tree, stumbles upon the ark and threatens to storm the vessel to escape the Creator's wrath, instigating a fight to the death between the two men.

NEUROTIC blue macaw Blu (voiced by Jesse Eisenberg) and Jewel (Anne Hathaway) are at the centre of the action once again.

This time the two birds have settled with owners Linda (Leslie Mann) and Tulio (Rodrigo Santoro) in Rio and have three children, Carla (Rachel Crow), Bia (Amandla Stenberg) and Tiago (Pierce Gagnon).

Jewel fears the brood is too domesticated so when Tulio and Linda uncover evidence of thriving blue macaws in the Amazon, the mother insists her entire family answers the call of the wild.

In the lush paradise the city birds are reunited with Jewel's long-lost father Eduardo (Andy Garcia) and her tuneful childhood pal, Roberto (Bruno Mars).

Jewel is thrilled but Blu struggles to acclimatize to his new surroundings.

Meanwhile, deranged cockatoo Nigel (Jemaine Clement) and love-sick amphibian sidekick Gabi (Kristin Chenoweth) hatch a diabolical scheme to exact revenge on the unsuspecting macaws.

Aries 21 March - 20 April
You may be keen to explore ideas that have been on the backburner. Yet, you might also feel pushed into doing more than is necessary. The current Grand Cross, could have you on tenterhooks, and as the Sun opposes Mars, delays to your best laid plans won't help. Yet, a soothing influence can encourage a more relaxed approach. Call for more news and advice...

Libra 24 September - 23 October
Though certain people in your life may seem to have the upper hand, you could have more leverage than you think in a key situation. As Mars continues to rewind in your sign, your ability to appreciate the subtleties of a current issue, could help you see a way out which they may have missed. Run with this, and you just might outsmart them. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
Changes to your ideas, routines and beliefs could make a profound difference to key aspects of your life. Intuitive impulses may be directing you to consider options that might launch you out of your comfort zone. Yet, this might not be such a bad thing Taurus. Over the weekend, a Venus Neptune link, hints that a slice of romance can be on the cards. Call for your love scope...

Scorpio 24 October - 22 November
You might want to change everything all at once. Yet, it may be easier to focus on just one issue for now. With Mercury in Aries, you'll likely think of multiple items you could start with. Yet, choosing your biggest issue may not be your best bet either. Succeeding at something easier could give you the confidence to tackle more difficult things. Call for more news and advice...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
As Mercury hikes into Aries, it might add extra spice to your social agenda, encouraging you to connect with those who are the movers and shakers in life. Later though, as the Sun challenges Mars, you may want to take a break from too much mixing and mingling. Time spent exploring your interests and passions could be very rewarding. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Sagittarius 23 November - 21 December
There's a sociable and adventurous aspect to the week ahead, along with a desire for peace and quiet. While you'll likely enjoy getting out and about, having fun, romancing or being creative, you might also find some alone time deeply refreshing. Later, as Venus links with Neptune, it's possible it can bring a much-needed opportunity for reflection. Call for more astral advice...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
While you might have energy to invest in creative plans or projects, it's likely you'll go with whatever seems most urgent and essential. This week, as Mercury heads into Aries, it might be key goals or career issues that call out to you. Yet, establishing harmony in your life at a grassroots level, could help you achieve greater success in the long-term. Call for more news...

Capricorn 22 December - 20 January
Applying mind power to a situation that may have confounded your best efforts, might not be such a bad idea. This can be a good time to research your options, perhaps by getting advice from others in the know. The thing not to do, is exhaust yourself with anxious thoughts or needless worrying, when progress could be just around the corner. Call now for more news...

Leo 24 July - 23 August
If you're feeling frustrated, this could be down to an edgy Grand Cross, which might set you thinking that you're not getting as much done as you could. This week, it helps to focus on the main item at the top of your list of priorities. See this through to a successful conclusion, and then do the same for each task, and you might accomplish far more. Call for more advice...

Aquarius 21 January - 19 February
Although information may be coming at you from every angle, it might help to discriminate between what is useful and what is not. If you're feeling overrun with too many facts, too much advice and far too many options, it might help to focus on the few ideas that seem sensible and doable. This could also help cut out too much time-wasting. Call for more news and advice...

Virgo 24 August - 23 September
Mercury's move into a more sensitive area of your chart, hints that you may be diving into uncharted waters. The current focus here can be excellent for dealing with tricky issues, such as financial problems, personal difficulties or working with the process of change. Whatever you have in mind, someone close could be supportive or conversely, very unhelpful. Call for more...

Pisces 20 February - 20 March
This week's Sun Mars connection, might cause you to wonder whether your finances will ever get back on track. Yet, with just a few tweaks here and there, things could yet start to fall into place. Later, as Venus connects with Neptune, you could experience a heightened sense of beauty, which you might want to incorporate into your surroundings. Call for more advice...

IF you're looking to buy a home in Old Harlow, this three-bedroom property in the sought-after Park Hill area is well worth a look and is on the market with no onward chain.

The generous entrance hall has a walk-in storage cupboard and there are doors leading off to the living room and kitchen.

The living room is a bright, spacious room with windows to the rear aspect overlooking the garden. There is a door leading out to the patio and stairs rising to the first floor.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

THE negotiation process when selling a home can be tough on sellers... and understandably so.

Buyers may demand price reductions or other concessions. Although such requests can be irritating, it's important to see them as just another part of a business transaction.

When it comes to selling your home it can be difficult to treat it as just another business deal but really, it's not personal.

The cheeky buyer who asks for a whopping discount and other concessions is usually just looking to buy as carefully as they can while paying as little as they can.

Sellers need to remember that once they've entered into the negotiating process it really isn't about them anymore - it's about the buyer.

It's a rare buyer who will offer full asking price with no negotiation. Most of us will have experienced or have heard stories of derisory offers but it's important to look open to negotiation, even if you're horrified and want to dismiss it immediately.

Some people will try it on and see how you react with a really low offer but they're not usually worth ignoring as it may simply be their starting tactic.

It's natural to be emotionally attached to your home - especially if you've lived there a long time - but allowing this affection to obscure reality is a big mistake.

Some people refuse to listen to the agents and are convinced their home is exceptional. You can usually spot them a mile off, declaring that they think other houses in the neighbourhood are really overprice, yet when they come to selling their home are convinced it should have a higher price because it is better.

Stubbornly overpricing a home simply makes selling it that much more difficult. I know I've said it before but take advice from a good agent.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

MAKING A RACKET: Left, Oliver Brooker and Charlotte Pressley will represent Essex at an 8&U tournament involving 10 counties. Right, Essex doubles winners Luke Spooner and Tom Perry

Tennis club has two reasons to celebrate

A HARLOW Lawn Tennis Club is celebrating county success for an adult team and two talented young players.

Oliver Brooker and Charlotte Pressley successfully completed their Essex trials last week and have now been selected to represent the county at a regional 8&U annual mini tennis red tournament.

Meanwhile, the Southern Way club's Performance Coach Luke Spooner teamed up with his playing partner Tom Perry, to take the Essex winter doubles title.

Oliver and Charlotte are now gearing up for their county competition, which will take place this Sunday at the Gosling Tennis Centre in Hertfordshire, where they will take on players from nine other counties.

Both players are a product of the Harlow Lawn Tennis Club Performance Programme based at the Latton Bush Centre, where they attend a number of training sessions each week.

Harlow Lawn Tennis Club head coach Will Calvert said: "Both players have worked tremendously hard and are to be congratulated on their success, as are the coaching team who work with them."

Meanwhile, the pairing of Spooner and Perry proved a smash hit to secure an Essex winter doubles competition.

The final was contested at Redbridge

Sports Centre.

Spooner and Perry, who were seeded No.2, faced the No.3 seeds Nigel Parsons and Steve Russell in a thrilling match.

The first set got under way and Spooner and Perry looked like they were finding it hard to adjust to the very fast indoor courts.

Parsons and Russell, who are coaches at Redbridge, looked at ease on their home surface, blasting big serves and returning well to break serve three times to clinch the first set 6-3.

The second set got under way and Spooner and Perry raised their intensity from the first point and started to play well.

At 1-1 in the second set, Spooner and Perry stepped it up and broke Parsons with some great returning.

Spooner consolidated the break, hitting three aces to go 3-1 up.

Again Spooner and Perry pounced again with some solid returning and shot making, breaking Russell to go 4-1 up.

Perry and Spooner got broken back, and Parsons and Russell held with a solid game to pin it back to 4-3.

Spooner came out with some big serving and volleying and Perry put away the volleys at the net to hold serve and go 5-3 up.

Again Spooner and Perry raised their game, applying pressure with great returns down to the feet of Russell who was charging to the net.

But Spooner and Perry broke to clinch the second set 6-3.

Into the last set and both pairs came out strong but the momentum was with the Harlow duo.

Both players served well and applied pressure on the Parsons and Russell service games.

You could see it was only a matter of time before they broke through, and that moment came with Spooner and Perry going 4-3 up and Parsons about to serve.

The intensity rose again in the Spooner and Perry return game, with both players attacking.

Parson's second serve clinched the break and put them within a game of the title.

Perry served and the team played some tough points to go 40-15 up, with two match points.

But Parsons and Russell fought back to deuce.

Perry missed the first serve but then hit a huge second serve ace out wide to again put them match point up.

A good first serve and a solid volley from Spooner before a backhand lob winner from Perry clinched the point and the match 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

It was a tremendous win and completed a gripping match.

Bowen: 'Early results key for my Rockets'

HARLOW Flyer Luke Bowen believes Rye House Rockets' early season results will be the key to a successful season.

"We're really up there in terms of spirit and confidence," he said.

The testimonial man admitted it had taken time to get back into the swing of things after his long absence from the saddle with a broken thigh.

"I have been really nervous for the last few weeks, but I've had two big wins tonight and I'm really pleased," added the former Mark Hall School student.

Rockets take on Plymouth away tomorrow (Friday) in the League Cup, with the return leg at Hoddesdon the following night (7pm start).

The club suffered mixed fortunes in its two most recent outings.

After a 50-40 loss away to Ipswich in the Premier League last Thursday, the Hoddesdon team followed this up with a 56-37 triumph at home to Peterborough Panthers in the East of England Cup on Saturday.

There was a marvellous five ride maximum from Edward Kennett, which put the seal on an emphatic cup victory over Peterborough as Rye House Rockets opened their home campaign in style.

Kennett was the unbeaten star but promoter Len Silver was keen to stress an impressive all round team performance.

"It was an extremely good result. The Peterborough team were reckoned to be potential league champions but we put them to the sword," Silver told the Star.

"There wasn't anyone in the team who did not ride above their average – even Simon Lambert who has the worst average more than did his job."

Silver also revealed that Simon Boxall was still extremely sore after the crash that wrote his bike off against the Panthers last week.

"That crash left him with bruising to his back and wrist – he was riding through the pain barrier on Saturday."

Silver was beaming with delight at his team's positive start to the season. "I'm delightened with the way they've performed. They are every bit as good as I expected them to be."

Bowen, who finished the night with an excellent paid 11 tally against Peterborough, said: "Edward [Kennett] was absolutely awesome, and a real inspiration to the rest of us."

Rye House scorers against Peterborough were: Edward Kennett 13+2 (5 rides), Steve Boxall 12+1 (6), Luke Bowen 10+1 (5), Mathieu Tresarrieu 9+3 (5), Jason Garrity 9 (5) and Simon Lambert 3+2 (4).

Despite losing to Ipswich, there were a number of positives Rye House Rockets could take away from their match at Ipswich – most notably a brilliant performance from Jason Garrity.

Garrity was back on top form following his machinery nightmare at Peterborough the previous week, racking up three wins in an 11+2 showing.

The Rockets hit problems even before the tapes had risen on the opening heat when Kennett experienced machinery issues and had to quickly borrow Lambert's bike for the race.

He looked uncomfortable on alien machinery, as Richie Worrall and Gino Manzares took advantage with a 5-1.

Another maximum quickly followed from Adam Ellis and former Rocket Ritchie Hawkins in Heat 2 to give the Witches a 10-2 cushion that they never relinquished.

Acting skipper Kennett rebounded from his early issues to also pick up three victories and Steve Boxall added a further success.

Silver said: "We had a couple of little things that went wrong early on, including Kennett's bike packing up. But we could just as easily have won it and we certainly weren't disgraced."

"To lose by 10 points away against what looks a strong team – their two reserves were on fire – is actually a very good display."

Rye House scorers were: Jason Garrity 11+2 (6 rides), Edward Kennett 11 (5), Steve Boxall 8 (5), Mathieu Tresarrieu 5+1 (5), Luke Bowen 5 (6), Simon Lambert 0 (3).

Dillon's spot on as Alemite hero

GOALKEEPER Dillon Osei was the penalty shoot-out hero as Alemite Athletic U-12s reached the final of the Mid-Herts Rural Minor League Premier Division Cup.

Having fought back twice from being a goal behind, Alemite took the game against Bury Rangers into extra-time and penalties on Sunday.

The Harlow team showed tremendous spirit and a never-say-die character to hold their own in the face of strong opposition.

The shoot-out was poised at 3-2 to Alemite when Dillon pulled off a magnificent save.

He then took the final penalty himself and showed nerves of steel to fire this into the bottom left corner to send his side through 4-2 in dramatic scenes.

Earlier, Bury led 1-0 at the break.

But Alemite levelled through Ryan Edwards.

The Hertford team took a 2-1 lead but a wonder striker with six minutes of normal time left from Ryan, who had tormented the Bury defence all afternoon, took the game to extra-time.

Then came the shoot-out drama.

But all the players were heroes after producing a fantastic performance.

The final is set to be played on May 18. Alemite had beaten competition favourites Wormley Youth in their quarter-final.

Hawks chief tells of his HTFC vision in Football Focus magazine

HARLOW Town co-owner Tom Cunningham was featured in the Football Focus magazine as he told readers of his hope that the Hawks can achieve promotion this season.

At the heart of Cunningham's vision for the Ryman League division one north club is the hope that he can drive forward with an academy at The Harlow Arena which would be the envy of non-League clubs.

Cunningham told the magazine how important youth football is for the club.

"It's paramount. Youth football should be at the heart of every club at every level of the game. Youngsters should be encouraged to enjoy football, develop their ability and follow their dreams. That is why we have established our academy. We want youngsters of all ages to grow up with HTFC and aspire to play for the club one day, but most importantly enjoy the benefits it brings in terms of health, confidence, social interaction and focus," he said.

Despite a season of huge success, Harlow are still struggling to get supporters through the gates and barely 200 turned out for Saturday's match against leaders VCD Athletic.

Cunningham is frustrated about this, but is confident fans will turn out in greater numbers if the team is playing in the Ryman premier division next season. "The overriding, ongoing challenge is to grow the club in terms of success, reputation and facilities," he added.

Tegate bid to join National League in play-off finale

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW netball club will compete in the National Premier League play-offs after celebrating securing a prestigious league title.

Tegate have won the East Regional Club's League (RCL).

The RCL is a highly competitive netball league for the region's leading netballers.

To gain entry, clubs have to be winners of senior county league or county tournaments.

Teams who go on to win division one of the two RCL leagues, gain automatic entry into the National Premier League play-offs.

There are nine netball regions throughout England: East Region (Tegate), North East, East Midlands, South, London South East, West Midlands, North West, Yorkshire and Humberside and South West. Each region will have a team in the national play-offs.

Tegate and the winning teams from each region will meet the bottom three teams from the Premiership division three in a play-off weekend on May 3-4, deciding who will go into the National League and who will return to the regional league.

The teams from National Premier League Three who will compete are the bottom three: Leamington (Warwickshire), Sussex Thunder (Hailsham) and Norfolk United

EASTERN CHAMPIONS: Tegate Netball Club

(S)

(Norwich).

All the play-offs will take place at Loughborough.

Tegate won 15 of their 18 RCL matches this term, suffering just three losses.

They ended their campaign with a 53-45 victory over one of their closest rivals, Billericay, at Mark Hall

Sportscentre on March 23.

The team is sponsored by Harlow-based Seen nightclub.

A Tegate club spokesman said: "Participating within netball at this level is an opportunity to inspire and challenge the clubs members on to greater things, they learn from the teams they meet on the court, bringing those skills back to the club and local leagues."

Tegate trains at Mark Hall Sportscentre.

Aside from the East Region League, the club operates teams, not just in Harlow, but also the Chelmsford and Bishop's Stortford Winter Leagues and the Turnford Summer League.

UP FOR THE CUP: The successful FC Flare reserves team lift the Division Two Cup final trophy

(S)

Cup final ends with Flare up

FC Flare Reserves triumphed in the Harlow & District Football League Division Two Cup final with a narrow 1-0 victory over Galacticos United.

But a fracas, which led to two Galacticos players being sent off, including one for making physical contact with the referee, marred this final at The Harlow Arena.

Gary Owen and Kieran Barfoot produced early saves from Galacticos keeper Charlie Hayden, while at the other end, Flare keeper Paul Arrowsmith denied Christian Browne and Mathew Thompson efforts.

The deadlock was broken three minutes before the break when a piece of magic from Rhys Williams, who cut in from the right and drove a low shot from 25 yards under Hayden's body into a bottom corner.

Galacticos forced Arrowsmith into making three outstanding saves in the second half to preserve the Flare lead, denying Browne, Daniel Matthews and Jack Denton, including a point blank save that looked like an equaliser.

Flare's strikers were always a threat with their pace and both Owen and Barfoot linked well but couldn't find the finishing touches to close the game down.

With four minutes to go a high dangerous tackle from Lucas Maxwell earned him a red card which sparked a large confrontation from players of both teams, during which Galacticos went down to nine men when Liam Oliver-Fitch was shown a second yellow card for making contact with a match official and also sent off.

Despite the lack of personnel, Galacticos pushed on and keeper Hayden was forced into attack and put the ball in the net only for it to be ruled out for offside.

"We deserved the win with a hard working display. Every player gave it their all, notably goalkeeper Paul Arrowsmith who made some key saves," said FC Flare reserves manager Glenn Thomas.

Flare will complete the double if they win the division two title.

FC Flare: Arrowsmith, Tarran, King, Usedom, Jeffries, Williams, Brett, Offei, Wiley, Owen, Barfoot: Subs: Baker, Clarke, Hartgrove, Page. Galacticos: Hayden, Oliver-Fitch, M. Brown, J. Brown, Maxwell, Thompson, Brown, Danton, Matthews, Browne, Ward. Sub: Bartram.

Dallas dietician spurs Sam in USA adventure

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HE carried the Olympic torch through Bishop's Stortford in 2012 but former Great Britain junior sprinter Sam Watts is now focusing on a critical year in the USA as he strives to become one of the world's best runners.

As well as getting help from top coaches in the USA at the state-of-the-art facilities where he studies in Texas, 22-year-old Watts, from Harlow, also gets help from the official dietician of the Dallas Cowboys American football team.

Watts, who competes at 100m, 200m and 400m, is in the second year of a degree at the Texas Christian University, which he chose because of its excellent athletics facilities.

Watts, a former student at Sawbridgeworth's Leventhorpe School, made huge progress in England and represented GB at the IAAF World Junior Athletic Championships in Canada a few years ago.

But having secured a scholarship at one of America's top universities, fitness, conditioning and diet are all part of his daily routine as he strives to come back to Britain with all the tools to become one of the world's best athletes. He finishes his studies in 2016.

Using the state-of-the-art facilities in Texas is key, but so is learning about the right foods to eat.

He explained: "As far as my diet, we have a dietician called Amy, who is also the dietician for the NFL team, the Dallas Cowboys.

"She will generally give us plans of what to eat during the week, and supplements to take if we need them."

Watts has been competing in state and regional events in America, improving his personal best time in the 200m to 20.50 seconds last month, which qualified him for the main event of the College calendar in USA: the NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association) in Eugene, Oregon, from June 11-14.

His schedule is tough in Texas, but he is enjoying his time in the States.

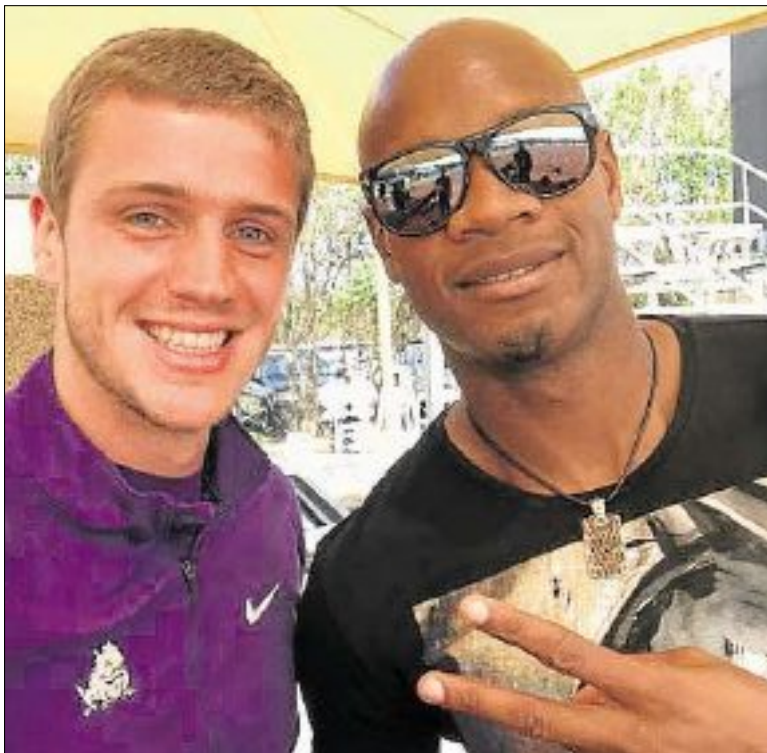

"Life here is pretty crazy though, my days are filled with classes, training and getting my body worked on.

"A standard day would be as follows: 9am until 2pm I'm either in class or studying/doing homework and somewhere in the middle I get my lunch.

"2pm I go to the treatment room to do some stretching and get any little pains I have worked on to try to get my body feeling good for practise.

"3pm practise starts and lasts until 6pm. 6pm I go shower and eat, then anywhere between 7-9pm I spend with tutors getting extra work done for my classes.

"As you can see it's a very, very busy schedule and most weekends are even taken up by racing so I don't get huge amounts of time to myself.

THE FAME GAME: Watts meets Olympic 200m medalist Jamaican Asafa Powell in the USA where he is studying (S)

"The training is very different to back home. Instead of the four times a week I was doing back home, I am now on six days a week, having Monday, Wednesday and Friday as my double days where I do weights as well as run."

He explained: "The training is a lot more focused on speed work, we do less quantity and more quality work. It's very specific and focused on speed.

"As for my training partners, they are all very, very good and push me hard in training which is great, we have a professional athlete that trains with us, Charles Silmon, who I actually managed to beat in the 200m this past Friday (March 21) at our university's home meet.

"But he won the [USA] national championships last year in the 100m in 9.89 seconds, so as you can tell he's obviously very good."

After completing his indoor season, Watts is now starting the outdoor season and has high hopes for 2014.

Speaking after he beat his PB for the 200m, he said: "I'm still shocked that I managed to open my season with 20.50, even for a wind-aided time that's much better than I even expected I'd run this year, so I'm really happy to see that all my efforts are paying off. Especially after a rocky indoor season."

Last weekend Watts competed in Austin for the Texas Relays, which is a huge event in this state.

TCU were first in their 4x100m heat, clocking 40.00, but were unable to complete the final when a team-mate was injured.

In the 4x400m, they won their heat, and in the final Watts raced against his former GB team mate, Dannish Walker Khan (competing for LUI Brooklyn). Watts' team was third.

Speaking prior to the race he explained: "This usually has a huge stadium full of fans which will be a really great experience as I will have never run for a crowd so big.

"I have high hopes for this season after such a great opener, my plan is to just keep working hard, doing everything my coach asks of me and my aim is to make it to the national championships. From then on who knows what will happen."

Coach eyes top three as play-offs loom

SHAB Niaz is aiming for a top three spot as his side gear up for the play-offs in the Herts Basketball League division two this season.

This would mean the Harlow Hawks winning both their remaining games.

Harlow are currently second after their 104-56 thrashing of the Herts Warriors in their penultimate home game of the campaign.

Hawks player-coach Niaz said: "Over the last few weeks our play has been back to the level prior to January that led us to winning the Herts Plate. Our form dipped a little after winning the Plate final and this had an impact on our title challenge. But we have had a few good wins in the last couple of games with some good performances as we push to try and secure home advantage for the end of season play-offs.

"Currently we are second in the league table, but other teams have games in hand. However if we win both our remaining league games then we should finish third, so that is the challenge for the team for now."

Breaking the 100 points mark for the first time this season, the Hawks produced an emphatic performance.

Harlow started the game with a bang.

Richard Whytock and Rimantas Norkeliunas scored two baskets each within three minutes and Russ Stonehouse hit a big three-pointer to take the lead by six.

Tom White also added two points.

Strong defence was the launch pad for a 10-point lead by the end of the first quarter (20-11).

Harlow scored a whopping 29 points in the second quarter.

Alex Hinds came off the bench and amassed a total of 13 points, helping Hawks go on a 12-0 run.

The Warriors were unable to break down the Hawks defence and turned over the ball on a number of occasions, which led to Hawks scoring on the fast break.

Warriors did not manage to score a point for the last five minutes of the quarter which ended Hawks 49-21 up.

The rout continued in the second half as Hinds, Stonehouse and Rimantas Norkeliunas scored 11 points in the first four minutes with other points coming from Rich Whytock, Lee Morris and Niaz with a three-pointer to extend the lead by 36 points.

Going into the final quarter 72-36 up, Niaz urged his troops to smash the 100-point barrier.

Harlow went on a 13-0 early run and scored a club record 32 points in this quarter.

David Griffin's hard work throughout the game was rewarded with a great three-pointer, while Hinds and White heaped further misery on Warriors.

White took a great pass on the fast break for an emphatic slam which capped a great night for the Hawks.

Hinds, Stonehouse and Lee Morris took the margin to 104 points.

HARLOW HAWKS: Hinds 26 points, Stonehouse 24, Whytock 14, White 14, Norkeliunas 12, Morris 6, Niaz 3, Lenihan 2, Griffin 3, Friedner, Burgess.

Steel named England Basketball U-16 Player of the Year

RISING star Josh Steel has picked up England Basketball's Player of the Year 2013 in his age group.

The Harlow youngster was hailed as having 'outstanding leadership qualities as he took the top gong in the U-16 section.

The award recognises 'outstanding and consistent leadership, teamwork and application based on performances on court, off court, in training and in competition.'

Steel, of The Hoo, was impressive both at home and abroad, having solid seasons in the national league and schools competitions with GB Regional Institute team, Barking Abbey, and being England's best performer at the Division B European Championships.

He hit double figures in scoring in all but one of England's eight European Championship games, helping his country finish a respectable sixth in Sarajevo last summer.

The 12.9 points per game average of Steel pictured above, led England and he was 18th overall in the tournament in that category.

He added 7.9 rebounds, 1.5 assists whilst shooting 40.2 per cent from the field.

"Josh displayed outstanding leadership qualities on and off the court and was essential to the development of our programme in the preparation to the European Championship in Bosnia," said England U-16 men's coach Andreas Kapoulas. "[He's] a talented individual with a great understanding of teamwork values."

The 6ft 4ins guard was also selected for the Jordan Brand Classic International Game in Brooklyn, New York, cementing his status amongst the elite of his age group Europe.

Steel is recognised as one of the best up and coming players to keep an eye on.

He hopes to study at college in America and his dream is to play for a top NBA side in the States.

'Hawks have hit top form at right time'

DANNY Chapman believes his Hawks side have hit top form at just the right time - after completing a memorable double over Ryman division one north leaders VCD Athletic.

"That is four wins on the bounce now and six games unbeaten. If there is any time to have a run, now is the time to do it," beamed Chapman after the 3-2 win at The Harlow Arena.

The Harlow Town boss warned his players of complacency as they head into Saturday's trip to Aveley.

He said: "You cannot get complacent. You have to make sure everybody keeps playing the way they play and doing their jobs and then you can be confident about it. As long as we go and do what we did [against VCD], then we will win the game."

Two-goal Alex Read proved the difference against VCD.

Chapman said: "I do not think anybody could argue with the result. It was a great result."

"Overall it was a great performance and thoroughly deserved. We always knew it was going to be difficult. They are not top of the league for nothing. Statistics never lie."

He added: "It is another two goals for Alex and I am pleased for him, but most of all I am pleased for the players."

The Hawks, playing against the wind, went ahead in only the sixth minute when a corner from the left was headed towards goal by skipper Darren Blewitt and Junior Dadson tucked it in.

The visitors equalised two minutes later. Keeper Daniel Knowles failed to collect a cross and Karl Kent stabbed the ball in. Harlow fell behind in the 28th minute. VCD midfielder Peter Smith was allowed too much space on the left and his curled right-footed shot from long range went in off the far post.

Chapman said: "I was disappointed with the goals we gave away, particularly the second one."

"I said to them at half-time 'the game is flat. The whole tempo needs to be lifted. If we can do that we will out-run them'."

"That is exactly what we did in the second half. Junior and Shane [Stamp] ran the full-backs into the floor. We had to get the ball to the wide men."

"The boys in midfield kept it nice and tight. There was not a player who did not do his job."

Harlow equalised on 53 minutes. Dadson put a lovely ball in the left channel for full-back Layne Eadie, and he crossed to the near post and his shot was rifled in by Read.

On 76 minutes, Stamp cut into the visitors' box but his shot was brilliantly kept out by VCD keeper Nick Blue.

Read grabbed the winner on 86 minutes. James Smith's superb hanging free-kick towards the far post was headed by the striker across goal into a far corner.

Keeper Ed Thompson, signed from Potters Bar Town, was on the bench against VCD.

HARLOW TN: Knowles, Barnard, Eadie, Urquhart, Blewitt, Simms (Antoine 12), Dadson, Muguo, Read (Laird 90), J. Smith, Stamp (G. Smith 90).

Striker Read's now one goal short of all-time record

STRIKER Alex Read closed to within one goal of equalling Jeff Wood's 1988-89 all-time Harlow Town FC goals record and admitted he was thirsty for more.

Read's two-goal salvo in the brilliant 3-2 victory against Ryman division one north leaders VCD Athletic on Saturday left him on a phenomenal 43 goals for the season and just one away from former Brighton & Hove Albion forward Wood's record.

Read hit a barren run before he scored one against Waltham Abbey last week to get him going again.

"I went six games without scoring but it did not matter as we have been playing well," he said.

The striker knows he needs one more goal when he faces his old club Aveley away this Saturday, but all he wants to do is cement a place in the play-offs for Harlow.

"I was there [at Aveley]. I had two games over there last season. I did not fit in over there. I want to smash them next week," he said.

"We will be going in on a high. It is all about preparing ourselves right. Thursday will be an important training session."

Momentum is key for Read.

"Every team that have won the play-offs in the last two years have been teams that have gone into it winning their games," he said.

Read was delighted with Saturday's win as Hawks completed the double over VCD. "Our performance was very professional. We knew exactly what they had come to do," he said.

"We played so that they could not benefit from anything we did. We were fantastic in the second half. The win was the most important thing."

He added: "Their keeper has pulled off two of the best saves I have seen this season. One he tipped round the post from me and I do not know how he saved it."

Harlow are now unbeaten in six. "The team want to take this [run] to the end of the season because if they [VCD] or Witham start slipping up you never know what might happen."

"If that does not happen it is better to take a good run into the play-offs."
